Our Story

It all began in a little Southeastern Texas town called Seadrift. Seadrift, population 2000, was home to Yo'Daddy and family. The family of crabbers and fishermen labored in their boats year-round, catching oysters, crab and shrimp for the seafood industry. As toiling as the work was, every weekend, the men would come home and make sure that they enjoyed their catch of the week... boiling crawfish and crab... shucking raw oysters.. grilling fresh fish... always with a beer in hand.

The enjoyment of fresh seafood and spending quality time with family and friends extended, after Yo'Daddy caught the best catch of his life, Yo'Mama, in 1995. Yo'Mama, the consummate Midwest girl from Kansas, did not have as much exposure to the seafood delicacies that Yo'Daddy was to introduce to her. But, she did have the natural inclination to have friends and family over for joyous occasions that were always surrounded by good food-a-plenty. And one thing Yo'Mama does know is that she knows how to EAT!!!

With their flair for having a good time, warm hospitality, and knowledge of excellent seafood preparation, Yo'Daddy and Yo'Mama opened the first Boiling Crab in 2003. Now family and friends (and you, too!) can experience the fun and taste of New Orleans right here in Southern California. Their dream - that The Boiling Crab have the "best tail in town" and be the biggest ass-pinching, head sucking venue, this side of the Mississippi - has become a reality.
